

WATER STUDIES ONLINE CERTIFICATE

By 2025, half of the world's population will be living in water-stressed areas.

In response to the reality of declining water resources, Metropolitan State University of Denver is offering a new Water Studies Online Certificate.

From lifelong learners who want to know more about water preservation to those working in green and sustainable professions, this unique certificate provides introductory level training and skills relevant to a wide range of fields in the nonprofit, corporate, and public sectors, including water industries, conservation, agriculture, construction, engineering, and law.

- Flexible schedule
- One-on-one networking and advisement
- Real-world applications
- Career Opportunities

Participants in MSU Denver's Water Studies Online Certificate are required to complete four courses:

msudenver.edu/water-studies-online

Or contact: Gwen Estridge

lifelonglearning@msudenver.edu | 303-721-1313